LEAVES MONEY FOR A CLOCK

Pioneer Wants a Timepiece in the Courthouse in Morrison County, Minnesota.

Little Falls, Minn.—By the provisions of one of the most peculiar wills ever filed in Morrison county a clock will probably be installed in the courthouse tower shortly. The will of Cyrus Page, a pioneer resident, contained directions for the payment of $2,000 to the county for a tower clock for the courthouse.

In the event the request is rejected by the county the testator ordered that the money be given to the Little Falls Council in trust to be used for the relief of deserving poor.

Benjamin Franklin said, "A penny saved is a penny earned," and Dr. Bob Wilson of Platte City, now head of the infirmary at Marshall, believes it is the truth. When he was only a boy, he fitted up an old trunk, looked it securely, and out a slot in the top of it. Every penny that he obtained he dropped in the slot of the old trunk, and there were very few pennies which he ever had that did not find their way into the improvised savings bank. About a year ago the doctor thought he would see just how many coppers he had, and was surprised to find that he had more than a wheelbarrow load. He took them to the Wells bank at Platte City and deposited them, and when he left the bank he had a credit of several hundred dollars in his bank book. The story, though old, has just reached us, but we think it worth repeating. Dr. Wilson is a brother of Senator Francis M. Wilson, former state senator, and a son of R. P. C. Wilson, one of the grand old men of Platte county. —Liberty Advance.

FORGETS WAR AT WEDDING

Had it not been for the war which is engaging the German nation, the wedding of Fraeulin Isa von Bethmann-Hollweg, the daughter of the German imperial chancellor, to Count von Zech-Burkersroda would have been a grand court fete, with all its attending pomp and ceremony. But in keeping with the serious affairs of the nation, the ceremony was marked by its simplicity. The photograph shows the German chancellor walking down the flower-strewn road with his daughter by his side. In the happiness of the moment, the grizzled old veteran forgot everything else but the big event, the wedding of his daughter to the man of her choice.

BOY OF 12 KILLS A THIEF

Tennessee Youth Shoots Man Who Is Trying to Rob His Mother.

Covington, Tenn.—Virge Goforth, twelve, shot and killed Thomas G. Pollard, thirty-five, while Pollard was beating and attempting to rob the boy's mother at their home on Island No. 85 in the Mississippi river. Pollard, who formerly boarded at Mrs. Goforth's home, met her on her way to the field and learning she had $4 demanded the money. He grabbed the woman, knocked her down and choked her, at the same time rifling her pockets.

Then young Goforth fired at Pollard, killing him instantly.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict that the boy was justified.

"MUST WAIT," SAID THE JUDGE

St. Louis Girl Wanted to Marry a Burglar Whom She Expected to Reform.

Kansas City, Mo.—Love may laugh at locksmiths, as has been alleged, but love failed when it attempted to open the locks of the county jail here and permit Miss Violet Boehm of St. Louis to marry Thomas Knight, held in the jail for attempted burglary. Miss Boehm is nineteen and Knight is twenty-two.

The girl went to a lawyer and then called on Judge Lathshaw. She said she could reform Knight, who readily agreed.

"I won't listen to such a thing," Judge Lathshaw said. "You'll have to wait until he is a free man."

"I'll wait for him forever," she said.

MONKEY GETS A MONUMENT

Pet Buried at East Summit, N. J., With Jeweled Collar Around Neck.

East Summit, N. J.—There has just been set up in the grounds of the Humphreys home in Morris avenue a monument to the memory of Snookie, a pet monkey of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Humphreys, which died last fall. The stone is of Vermont granite and bears the following inscription:

"In loving memory of Snookie, a Brazilian marmoset, died September 29, 1914."

The monkey was buried in a specially prepared coffin, and around its neck was placed a jeweled collar. The Humphreys lived in East Summit many years, but their home now is in New York.

HUNT BEETLES IN ARIZONA

Collector Who Has 150,000 Specimens of the Insects Looking for Still More.

Tucson, Ariz.—Beetle hunting in the mountains around Tucson is good at this season; and Charles Dury of Cincinnati, who has a collection of 150,000 specimens, is here to add to the number. He will first try for the game in Stone Cabin canyon in the Santa Rita mountains.

It is a small and rare beetle that Dury is after, follows only 1-1/2 of an inch long.

"Arizona has more species of insect life than any other state in the Union and more remarkable insects," said he; "it would take many years of constant work and investigation to make anything like a complete collection of specimens of Arizona insect fauna."

HOW TO SELECT SEED CORN

When Harvesting Seed Corn Choose Medium Sized Ears From Strong, Vigorous Stalks.

GATHER IT FROM THE FIELD

There is Danger of Selecting Ears Too Large—if the Season is Late and Cold or Frosts Come Early We Will Have a Lot of Soft, Chaffy, Moldy Light Corn From Which to Get Seed for Our Next Year's Crop.

By PROF. P. Q. HOLDEN, Director Agricultural Department International Harvester Co. of New Jersey.

A good sized ear is essential to a good yield. It indicates that the ear comes from a strong, vigorous, healthy stalk and that in turn it will produce stalks and ears having a strong constitution and hardness. No one would think of selecting for seed small, weak, puny-looking ears. Corn has been bred for the grain or ear until the proportion of corn to stalk is abnormally high and consequently the tendency is for the ear to become smaller unless we select larger ears than we expect in the average of the crop.

Select Medium Sized Ears.

On the other hand, the greater danger lies in selecting too large ears and too large types of corn, and this is especially true of the northern half of the corn belt. For every dollar lost by growing corn that is too small or too early there are ten to twenty dollars lost from growing corn that is too large and too late in maturing. If the season is late and cold, or the frosts come too early, or if the seed is planted late in the spring, the grower has a lot of soft, chaffy, moldy, light corn. In addition to this it is very difficult to secure good seed from such corn for next year's crop. It is certain to be more or less frozen, moldy and weak, and to result in a poor stand and a poor crop. Large, sappy, immature ears fill the wagon-box rapidly and we deceive ourselves into thinking that we are getting a large yield. Corn of this kind often contains from 85 to 45 per cent of water. When the corn dries it is loose on the cob, chaffy and light. The little cobs in the kernels are only partially filled with food and are dull and chalky, or starchy, instead of bright, hard, heavy and rich in appearance.

The corn is apt to spoil, especially in the bottom of the crib, i. e., burns out, and it is unpalatable to stock. The grower of such corn is required to sell at a greatly reduced price. What we want is corn that will be safe every year. Remember that two small ears weighing but ten ounces each, to each hill will make 64 bushels per acre, or double the average yield. Three of them will give nearly 100 bushels per acre.

This indicates full maturity, good quality, feeding value and yield.

Large ears will generally have larger and deeper kernels. Short, bunched ears are certain to have deeper kernels than long, slim ears. As a consequence the planter cannot be adjusted to give a uniform drop.

If we have large and small ears, bunched and slim ears, deep kernels and shallow kernels ears we shall not only have unevenness in size and shape of kernels, but we shall also have a great variation in time of maturity, some stalks bearing early and some late, and some having high ears and some low.

POOR SEED MEANS LOW YIELD.

One small eight-ounce ear of corn added to each hill will double the yield and value of the crop and add $1,700,000,000 to its total value.

CORN GROWERS' RULES.

1. Pick seed corn before October 1st, leaving at least twice as much as will be needed.
2. Select only ears that will ripen and that are of good quality.
3. Select from strong, vigorous stalks, ears that bend over at medium height on medium length shanks.
4. Hang seed corn in a dry, well ventilated place, so that the ears do not touch.
5. Select seed corn from your own field.
6. If you must buy seed corn, buy in your own locality.
7. In the spring, select the best ears and test each ear.
8. Select 100 of the choicest of these ears and plant in a separate plot to select from next year.

Immature Corn Processed.
Corn put into the crib in the fall in a sappy condition freezes and thaws repeatedly through the winter. In March and April when the weather warms up, it will be found that the hearts of the kernels have turned to a cheesy color and later become black and are strong to the taste. In this last case I have reference not to soft, immature corn, but to what would be considered as very good corn except that it is large and contains considerable water.
